THE THEME

Today's readings focus on the power of God's word for those who actually embrace it. This theme begs several questions for us who have heard the word proclaimed many times over. Does what we hear change our thinking or our actions in any way? Is the problem with the proclaimer or the homilist, or is it really with us? The promise is that God's word can make a difference in our lives . . . If we are open to it.

THE READINGS

ISAIAH 55:10-11: A prophetic teaching on the power of God's word.

ROMANS 8:18-23: Paul professes hope in the face of suffering.

MATTHEW 13:1-23: God's word is powerful for those who really hear it.

JULY 11/12, 2020

ST. ANDREW R.C. CHURCH

From Fr. Peter's Desk
15th Sunday In Ordinary Time

Dear Parish Family:

Promising the exiled Israelites an exodus from Babylon, our First Reading from Isaiah illustrates the reliability of God's Word and the certainty of God's purpose with an example that echoes that of Psalm 65: "God's watering of the earth will result in food to feed the people".

In our Second Reading from St. Paul to the Romans, Paul refers to a revelation and a first tasting of a coming glory to assert that humanity and the whole creation share in suffering and in longing for redemption. Paul reminds us of the Hope for humanity and the whole creation in the midst of, and in spite of, difficult situations.

Biblical texts often link the fate and well-being of humanity with the created world. In today's Gospel, Matthew's parable of the sower makes the connection by presenting humans as soil. After all, in Genesis, the first human is created out of soil and the word Adam can be translated as an "earthling". Like Isaiah, Matthew hints at the blessing of a not yet fully visible revelation.

My dear brothers and sisters in Christ, when we are open to God's Word, signs of the Kingdom of God are observed in us and point to its promised fulfillment. In whom do we see evidence of the seed that has fallen on rich soil and what have we done to nourish the growth of that seed?

*May God Bless You All,
Fr. Peter*

STEWARDSHIP
Stewardship Reflection

"I consider that the sufferings of this present time are as nothing compared with the glory to be revealed for us." May these words from today's First Reading give us hope and encourage us.

Living Stewardship

This upcoming week, try to read the daily Gospel reading for each day. May we allow the seed of God's Word to enter into our hearts and grow.
